PS#14-43

11/12/14

On Wednesday, November 12, 2014, at 9:35 PM, uniformed officers, in a marked police vehicle, responded to a Police Radio assignment of "a person with a gun" inside a vehicle, in the 2000 block of Oxford Street. Upon their arrival, the officers observed the vehicle in question parked in the 2000 block of Oxford Street. Several pedestrians on the block pointed at the vehicle, saying, "That's him." The vehicle then began to travel west on Oxford Street. The officers activated their vehicle's emergency equipment and followed the vehicle. The vehicle stopped at the intersection of 21st and Oxford Streets, where the offender exited the vehicle and walked toward the officers. The officers exited their vehicle, and ordered the offender to get back into his vehicle, which he did. Once back in his vehicle the offender began to slowly drive away. One of the officers moved to the driver door of the offender's vehicle and instructed the offender stop the vehicle. The offender ignored the officer and began to drive forward. The officer grabbed onto the driver side mirror of the vehicle and was dragged for several feet. As he was being dragged, the officer discharged his weapon, striking the offender. The officer broke free from the vehicle and the vehicle fled north on 21st Street and was lost in the area.

The vehicle was located in the 2100 block of N. Lambert Street.

The offender was later located at Thomas Jefferson Hospital where he was being treated.

The offender was subsequently identified by the initial officers.

No weapon was recovered.
