On Saturday, January 13th, 2018, at approximately 10:45PM, two uniformed officers in an unmarked patrol vehicle observed a Hyundai Santa Fe traveling in the wrong direction on Hart Lane. The officers activated the emergency lights and sirens and stopped the Hyundai in the 2800 block of Kensington Avenue. The vehicle was occupied by a male driver, who lowered all four windows upon stopping, and a male passenger in the front seat. Officer number one proceeded to the driver's side and spoke with the vehicle operator, and officer number two proceeded to the passenger side and spoke with the male passenger. Officer number two observed a bulge at the front waistband of the passenger, and the officer opened the door and patted the object. Officer number two felt a firearm, drew his service pistol, and alerted officer number one. At the same time, two additional uniformed officers in an unmarked patrol vehicle arrived at the location, and officers number three and four exited their vehicle and drew their firearms. The male passenger exited the Hyundai and produced a 9MM semi-automatic pistol with an extended magazine. Officers number two and three discharged their service pistols, striking the offender.

The offender was admitted to Temple University Hospital in critical but stable condition. The offender's firearm, a stolen 9MM pistol loaded with thirty-three (33) rounds, was recovered from the male.

The male operator of the Hyundai was not charged with any offense.

No other injuries were reported in connection with this incident.
